Contents Volume 30 (1997)

No. 1

Explaining the formation of business-environmentalist collaborations: Collaborative windows and the Paper Task force
Douglas J. Lober 1–24

The need for centres of health research excellence in the developing world
Richard Hamilton 25–46

No. 2

The sun safety metanarrative: Translating science into public health discourse
Theresa Garvin & John Eyles 47–70

Public involvement methods in natural resource policy making: Advantages, disadvantages and trade-offs
Toddi A. Steelman & William Ascher 71–90

Democracy, credibility, and sound economics: The Israeli hyperinflation
Rafael Reuveny 91–111

No. 3

Editor's Note iii

Symposium on Managing Processes of Peace and Rebuilding Societies: Small Arms Disarmament and Reintegration of Combatants

Introduction: Martin Grundmann 113–116

Armed conflicts and small arms proliferation: Refocusing the research agenda
Peter Lock 117–132

Proliferation of light weapons in Africa
Henny J. van der Graaf 133–141

Managing arms in peace processes
Sverre Lodgaard 143–150
Demobilization of combatants after civil wars in Africa and their reintegration into civilian life
Kees Kingma 151–165

Special section: Educating Policy Scientists

Raising standards: A prototyping strategy for undergraduate education
Ronald D. Brunner 167–189

No. 4

Introduction to the policy sciences
Ronald D. Brunner 191–215
Teaching the policy sciences: Reflections on a graduate seminar
Ronald D. Brunner 217–231
Critical appraisal in science and technology policy analysis: The example of science, the endless frontier
David H. Guston 233–255

Author Index Volume 30 (1997) 257
Contents Volume 30 (1997) 259–260
Instruction for authors 261–265